

The Future Sport Horses Syndicate

Be part of an exciting Future

Welcome

Thank you for taking the time to learn more about the Future Sport Horses Syndicate, an exciting, affordable foray into the thrilling and rewarding equestrian sport of Eventing.

The sport of Eventing, also referred to as Horse Trials, consists of three separate disciplines: dressage, show jumping and cross country. Borne in the military, in an era when mounted cavalry was a critical logistical element, the resulting competition was designed to test the quickness and bravery of cavalry horses not only in covering distances from one outpost to another, jumping whatever obstacles were in their way, but also to show the obedience, balance and carefulness required to safely transport their rider to the outpost with the critical battle information. The modern sport of Eventing is designed to provide a complete test of these hallmark skills. The dressage phase tests obedience, the show jumping tests carefulness and the cross country tests bravery and boldness.

Using racehorse syndication as a model, Future Sport Horses syndicates potential top-level equine candidates into 100 shares, resulting in affordable share price and monthly training fees. Young horses are reviewed annually, and a select number are made available for syndication. Each horse has its own terms and conditions, but all horses are covered by the umbrella syndicate "Future Sport Horses Syndicate". The share price for each horse available for syndication will vary depending on their level of training and potential.

The Vision for the Future Sport Horses Syndicate

The Syndicate has several aims –

1. YOU - To create a team of like-minded supporters who wish to enjoy the skill and thrill of our sport, whilst developing new friendships through a shared interest, in beautiful settings throughout the United Kingdom, in an affordable way.
2. THE HORSES – To continue the fabulous education they are receiving from British Olympic rider Jeanette Brakewell in order to reach their full potential.

Burghley House – home of Burghley Horse Trials

About Future Sport Horses

Future Illusion

Future Sport Horses is a specialist Event Horse breeding stud which, over the last few years, has managed to obtain some of the best eventing bloodlines in the world. The broodmare herd comprises of dams, siblings and offspring of international event horses, and the very best stallions have been selected to be used with them.

The result of this highly focussed programme is both concentrated and comprehensive. From the last four years of British Equestrian Federation Futurity Evaluations - designed to identify elite sport horse prospects of the future - Future Sport Horses has bred the top event horse foal an amazing three times. In addition to this, their young stallion Future Illusion was the No.1 ranked Sire of Eventing youngstock from over 24 European event horse stallions in 2009.

The Horses

The first horse made available for syndication is Future Genie, who is the eldest sibling to Olympic Individual Silver medallist and three-time winner of the Kentucky Rolex CCI*, 'Winsome Adante'. Winsome Adante is one of the most successful event horses ever bred in the United Kingdom. Sold to America as a young horse and has done the majority of his winning wearing the Stars and Stripes rather than the Union Jack.

Future Genie is already demonstrating exceptional ability, having qualified for the British Eventing Young Horse Championships as a 5 year-old, a competition for which only the best young horses qualify and which she led after the dressage phase before finally finishing 11th. She won her first Novice level event and has already qualified for the British Eventing Young Horse Championships for 6 year olds. She has also qualified for two Novice Regional Finals which culminate with a National Championship at Princess Anne's estate located in the Cotswolds. She has also successfully completed her first CIC* (an International competition), which makes her eligible for potential selection to represent Great Britain at the Young Event Horse World Championships later this season at Le Lion d'Angers in France. In 2010 the share price for Future Genie is £750 with monthly training fees of £30.

Future Genie

Jeanette & Over To You

The Rider

Jeanette Brakewell is one of Britain's most well respected riders, and is probably best known for her enduring relationship with her horse 'Over to You', who remains the most medalled horse in British Eventing history. Jeanette has won Olympic, World and European medals and has trained young horses through to the top levels. Her credentials are impeccable. Not only is she a top class rider, she is also an accredited British Eventing Trainer.

The Benefits of becoming a Syndicate Member

Eventing is a sport which not only is exciting and rewarding to watch, but also enjoys a very strong social scene. Becoming a syndicate member provides you with the following benefits:-

- ✓ Become an Event Horse Owner in an affordable way and share in any winnings. Watch your horse competing at Events throughout the UK and Europe and participate in the behind the scenes activities on competition days
- ✓ Opportunity to meet like-minded people, be part of a team, and share in the very social aspects of Event horse ownership in some of the UK's most beautiful venues and Stately homes and enjoy wonderful days out
- ✓ Personal email updates on your horses progress and competition schedule as well as an opportunity to visit your horse in training, socialise with Jeanette and learn some tips!
- ✓ Automatic membership of Team Future owners club which provides a portfolio of benefits including savings on Insurance policies from Shearwater Insurance, on high quality feed from TopSpec Equine, and on worming programmes from Intelligent Worming, amongst other great benefits.

Event horse ownership is fun, exciting and rewarding, so why not find out more today – what have you got to lose?

Please contact Julia Hodkin personally on 07775 633004 or email her at info@FutureSportHorses.co.uk - Be part of an exciting Future...!